Offsite Data Depot Adds Secure, Climate-Controlled Vault Storage to Roster of Services for Northern Nevada Businesses

CARSON CITY, NV - - October 6, 2010 – Whether in Carson City, Reno, Sparks, Dayton, Fallon, Lake Tahoe, Carson Valley, or Yerington, Northern Nevada businesses with document or media storage needs, especially those requiring climate or humidity-controlled environments, have a new option. Offsite Data Depot has added several climate-controlled storage vaults to its Mound House facility for the secure storage of sensitive media such as computer backup (tapes and hard drives), microfilm, and microfiche. The vault service is also available to individuals for storage of valuable personal artifacts, such as paintings.

Gerd Poppinga, Offsite’s Director of Operations, said “Businesses with lots of information - for example casinos, government agencies, banks, and others - have been able to save 20-60% on storage costs by consolidating various in-house and offsite storage locations into one convenient and easily-accessible location, while improving the security and management of their information. And now we can handle their climate-controlled storage needs as well.”

Brian Olson, Offsite’s co-owner, added “It’s our understanding that some document management firms have been discontinuing their local vault services, so we’re happy to accommodate those businesses who need it.”

Offsite's climate-controlled vaults are equipped with industry-strength steel doors and 24-hour video surveillance and monitoring for maximum security. Over the next few months, Offsite plans to add more vaults with a variety of climate control characteristics for storing a broad spectrum of content.
